Comments

“ I met Linda when we were both about 4 years old. Her parents had come to visit my parents and brought her along. We played and had a good time. Years later she moved with her parents across the road from us. She became my best friend. We could play every day and into the night. She was also my first friend. We went to school together, laughed and cried together until she married Don. We lost touch for awhile, but I never stopped loving her. We had planned as children that when we married, we would still be next door neighbors. I am looking forward to seeing her in Heaven. Love you Linda.
